"Oh Lor Hit 'Im Again."

In the early days of Methodism in Scotland a certain congregation where there was but one rich man desired to build a new chapel. A church meeting was held. The old rich Scotchman rose and said: "Brethren, we dinna need a new chapel. I'll give £5 for repairs."

Just then a bit of plaster falling from the ceiling hit him on the head.

Looking up and seeing how bad it was, he said: "Brethren, it's worse than I thought. I'll make it 50 pun'."

"Oh Lord," exclaimed a devoted brother on a back seat, "hit 'im again."

There are many human tabernacles which are in sore need of radical building over but we putter and fuss and repair in spots without satisfactory results. It is only when we are personally alarmed at the real danger that we act independently and do the right thing. Then it is that we most keenly regret because we did not sooner use our judgment follow the advice born of the experience of others and jump away from our perils.

Thousands of persons who will read this paragraph are in abject misery to-day when they might be in a satisfactory condition. They are weak, lifeless, full of odd aches and pains and every year they know they are getting worse even though the best doctors are patching them in spots. The origin of these aches and pains is the kidneys and liver, and if they would build these all over new with Warner's safe cure, as millions have done, and cease investing their money in miserably unsuccessful patchwork, they would be well and happy and would bless the day when the Lord hit 'em and indicated the common sense course for them to pursue.—London Press

GENERAL NEWS.

A Thunder Storm Experienced on Mt. McGregor

PREPARATIONS FOR THE FUNERAL

The President Makes a Number of Appointments—Efficient Consuls to be Retained—Manning Works in a Favorite

MT McGREGOR July 30.—One of the first labors of Colonel Grant after all is over and the family have settled down will be to begin a biography of his father. No one living has such ample material for giving a picture of Grant's character and habits of thought. Speaking of the general's book it may be said that reports of the profits the family expect to derive from it have been grossly exaggerated. Their guaranteed share of sales up to date is only $42,000 and probably their total receipts from the book will not much exceed $100,000. Colonel Grant is himself left without anything whatever and it is his intention so soon as he has completed his father's biography to endeavor to get into some active line of business.

STORM ON THE MOUNTAIN

A severe thunder storm occurred on the mountain this evening. The electric fluid entered the cottage tearing off some plastering, and extinguished the electric light above the casket. Colonel Beck commanding battery A, 5th artillery from Governor's Island and General R H Jackson commander of Fort Columbus Governor's Island were rendered insensible by the shock from the bolt, and it was feared for a time that the latter could not survive. Both are now however pronounced out of danger. Two or three others were also more or less severely hurt. The mountain telegraph wires were all prostrated and dispatches had to be sent to Saratoga for transmission.

Large numbers of persons this afternoon availed themselves of the privilege of viewing the remains. When the General's remains were placed in the casket yesterday afternoon Colonel Grant put a packet in the breast pocket of the coat. It now transpires that it was a letter written by Mrs Grant. It acknowledged the farewell letter of the general found in his pocket after death and added a farewell until they should meet in another world. The ring placed on the general's finger was one Mrs Grant had given the general for which in life his finger had grown too small.

MRS GRANT

Mrs Grant who has remained in the upper rooms of the cottage since the general's death last evening descended to the parlor where she viewed the remains of her husband after they had been composed in the casket. To-day she is as usual. Her mind is distressed, but physically she is well.

THE RUSH BEGINS

Pilgrims from all parts of the Union to Mt McGregor have already began to arrive and the hotel books at Saratoga show an unwonted tide of transit visitors intent on seeing Mt McGregor.

AT NEW YORK

GENERAL HANCOCK'S PREPARATIONS

NEW YORK July 30—General Hancock sent a letter to Adjutant General Drum to-day acknowledging the receipt of a letter sent by Secretary Whitney to Secretary Endicott in regard to the part to be taken by the navy in the obsequies. General Hancock says he will be pleased to confer with Rear Admiral Jouett on the subject and adds that details of officers and men from the navy will be assigned a suitable position in line.

In reply to a request of S. M Montgomery, of Baltimore that West Point cadets be accorded a place in line General Hancock replies "That matter will come under direction of the war department."

Answering a suggestion of Inspector General Jones at Mt McGregor, General Hancock telegraphed: "If the family invites members of General Grant's cabinets I will be pleased to give them a place in the column." Later General Jones telegraphed that the family wished General Hancock to invite members of the cabinets.

Proper provision has been made for the house of representatives committee.

J F Hobson, of Decatur Illinois has asked for transportation for seven Grant regiments. General [illegible] furnish transportation but that he would give the regiments a place in line if they come.

The Fourth Ohio regiment which participated in the Garfield obsequies asks a place in line and asks permission to camp at Governor's Island or near Central park.

THE GRANT MEMORIAL COMMITTEE

NEW YORK, July 30.—A circular signed by Chester A Arthur chairman, William [illegible] and Hamilton Fish vice chairman and Richard T Greener secretary of the Grant memorial commission was issued to-day. It says action will soon be taken for the organization of committees to represent the entire country for the erection of a suitable monument above General Grant's grave. Pending this committee call on all newspapers, railways, telegraph and express companies, postmasters, banks, bankers, churches and municipal authorities, commercial bodies and exchanges, manufacturing and business establishments to cooperate in the immediate collection of contributions to be forwarded to Drexel Morgan & Co for this committee or to the Mayor of New York. All contributions will be acknowledged. The Western Union telegraph company to-day sent instructions to the managers of all its offices throughout the country to receive contributions from the public and forward them to the committee.

GENERAL SHERMAN'S VIEWS

NEW YORK July 30 The Tribune this morning publishes an interview with General Sherman in which he says: The parade will be the grandest military spectacle this city ever saw. General Hancock is magnificently fitted to organize it and is hard at work. He will leave nothing undone. It was a good thing to do to place these things in his hands. General Sherman gave this explanation of why he thought New York had been given the preference over Washington as the place of burial. "The Grant family will continue to reside in New York and they want the general's tomb to be here. I think that is the feeling of the family and when the country comes to know of it the selection will be honored as reasonable."

A PATHETIC REALITY

NEW YORK July 30 A correspondent to the [illegible] of the evening journals says, "There is nothing more pathetic in the closing scenes of Grant's life than in the knowledge of the complete destitution in which he was left by the Grant & Ward failure. Everything relating to his military career was taken from him so there did not remain to the family a single uniform in which to cloak his remains. Not even his sword was left to lay upon his coffin. Grant's personal trophies and effects were all taken by the government which did not leave the semblance of a military emblem with the Grant family. The officials at Washington have made no sign of their having thought of the lack of a uniform and sword for the dead soldier."

A REVIEW BY DR. SHRADY

NEW YORK, July 30.—Dr. Shrady will publish in the Medical Record on August 1 an extended review of the surgical and pathological aspects of General Grant's case. He believes the disease had its inception during the month of June 1884, and gives a succinct history of the progress and treatment of the case from the day in October last when General Grant first called on Dr Fordyce Baker his family physician up to its fatal termination. It suggests no new theories in regard to the case and is rather intended to be a connected narrative for the benefit of the medical profession being largely couched in terms familiar to that body.

DEPEW'S PROMISED REVELATIONS

NEW YORK July 30—The Brooklyn Eagle quoting Chauncey Depew's promised revelation concerning a crisis in national affairs when he alleges Grant's firmness prevented another rebellion [illegible] probably relate to the episode of Johnson's administration when Johnson resolved to arrest the principal confederate leaders and try them on a charge of treason and in the event of their conviction promptly hang them. Between this design and its execution Grant intervened, and by swift [illegible] further trouble.

WASHINGTON

CABINET MEETING

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The cabinet meeting to-day was attended by all the members. It referred to the arrangements for the Grant obsequies and it was decided that the president and all the members of his cabinet would attend the funeral ceremonies in New York. The [illegible] will leave Washington [illegible] for August [illegible] Apartments have already been secured at the Fifth Avenue hotel. It is not likely the president will return to Washington immediately after the funeral as it is his purpose to take [illegible] recreation in the Adirondack mountains as soon as he can get away. [illegible] and Colonel Lamont will [illegible] the president.

THE PALL BEARERS

WASHINGTON July 30. The president having [illegible] Mrs Grant to name the pall bearers for General Grant's funeral has [illegible] the following: General William T. Sherman, Lieutenant General Philip H Sheridan, Admiral David D Porter, Vice Admiral Stephen C Rowan, General Joseph E Johnston of Virginia, General Simon Buckner of Kentucky, Hamilton Fish of New York, George S Boutwell of Massachusetts, George W Childs of Pennsylvania, John A Logan of Illinois, George Jones of New York and Oliver Hoyt of New York.

CIRCULAR TO DEPARTMENT COMMANDERS

WASHINGTON July 30.—General Burdette commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has sent a circular to department commanders, as follows: "Major General Hancock, in charge of the obsequies of our late commander, General U S Grant, has devolved upon me, as commander-in-chief of the G A R. the arrangement of positions in column of visiting bodies of the Grand Army. As far as practicable attendance should be by departments as such; all communications with national headquarters being through department headquarters. Where from long distances or other cause only representatives from posts and departments can be present, suitable arrangements will be made for them in line. Be good enough to advise me at the earliest practicable day whether your department will be present and the number and strength of each post attending. If delegations only are sent please state the fact and the number. Address communications to Adjutant General John Cameron, G A R Fifth Avenue hotel New York city where temporary headquarters will be established."

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENTS

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The president made the following appointments to-day: Agents for Indians—C Osborne of Tennessee of the Ponca, Pawnee and Otoe agency Indian territory; Frederick Hoover Indiana, of Osage agency Indian territory; Jesse Lee Hall of Texas of the Kiowa, Comanche and Wichita agency in Indian territory. To be registers of land offices—Frank Dale of Kansas at Wichita Kansas; Clate M Ralston [illegible] at Independence Kansas.

Joseph Nicholson Harris son of I. H. Harris of Baltimore was appointed naval cadet at large in place of Kisling Bury, son of Lieutenant Kislingbury who died in the Arctic ocean who failed to pass in May.

The president to-day appointed Alexander H Shipley of New York to be United States consul at Auckland and F H McCaskill of Mississippi at Dublin.

CONSULS RETAINED

WASHINGTON July 30.—The president has decided to retain the following United States consuls on account of their excellent records: J H Stewart at Antwerp Belgium; H J Sprague who has been at his post since 1848 at Gibraltar; R S Chilton at Goderich Canada; Oscar Malmros at Leith Scotland; William Thompson at Southampton England; J J Stephens (formerly clerk of the house appropriations committee) at Victoria British Columbia; Philip Charrol at Palermo Italy; F O Williams, consul general at Havana and C C Lord, commercial agent at Sagua la Grande. Jasper Smith formerly commercial agent at Nottingham has been transferred to Newcastle on Tyne and Secretary Bayard has appointed C S Williams at Nottingham. [illegible] resident of [illegible] New York.

THE CHOLERA EPIDEMIC

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Secretary Bayard has received a dispatch from the United States consul at Marseilles saying that the recent report of an outbreak of cholera in France is unfounded. In one small village there have been a few cases of cholerine, which is not epidemic. The general sanitary condition of the country about Marseilles continues good.

A report from the consul at Cardiff says that in view of the danger of cholera by vessels coming there from Spain the local authorities have arranged that all vessels shall be inspected before going and those having sickness on board kept in quarantine at Flatholm island where a cholera hospital is to be erected.

WORKING IN A FAVORITE

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Secretary Manning has appointed George W Albright of Albany, New York, a skilled laborer in the sixth auditor's office at an annual salary of $1000 and assigned him to duty as assistant to the chief of the appointment division. It is understood that he will soon be appointed assistant chief of the division to succeed George M Rose, who will be reduced to a fourth class clerkship. There is a question as to the authority for such an appointment under the civil service law. It is also said that Albright will eventually succeed Higgins as chief of the appointment division.

AN AMERICAN IN TROUBLE

WASHINGTON, July 30.—A man named Hamilton alias Rivers an American has been on trial at Zacatecas, Mexico on a charge of murder. His friends in this country have reported to the state department that he was to be put to death without trial. A telegram was received here to-day saying that Rivers had been tried and sentenced to twenty years imprisonment.

MEXICAN VETERANS

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The secretary of the association of veterans of the Mexican war has received a communication from General Hancock, stating that a delegation of veterans of that association will be accorded a place as mourners in the funeral procession of General Grant should the [illegible] sent the use [illegible]

ENGLAND

TROUBLE AMONG THE CONSERVATIVES

LONDON, July 30.—Lord Randolph Churchill, secretary of state for India and Sir Stafford Northcote first lord of the treasury, both dined away from the banquet to the ministers last night. Their absence has caused much comment and added to the sensation produced by Lord Randolph's decision at the last moment not to attend the great tory meeting yesterday in Liverpool where he was to be the principal speaker. In consequence of Lord Randolph's refusal to attend the Liverpool meeting was postponed. He has agreed to go to Liverpool a month from now and address a meeting of conservatives there on his own account. The excitement in Liverpool over last night's occurrence is very great to-day. Delegates from all sections of the conservative party in England have been aroused by the incident and have united in empowering one of the tory members from Liverpool to proceed to London in the name of the party to interview Lord Randolph and other conservative leaders and arrange to secure an address in Liverpool from the Indian secretary upon his [illegible] terms and at his own convenience.

A FATHER'S TERRIBLE CRIME

LONDON, July 30.—The crusade against immorality in this city and the country grows [illegible] and the leaders in most cases are women. To-day a motherless girl named Davies aged 16 gave birth to a child at [illegible] Worcestershire. Neighbors became convinced that her own father was the father of the child, and a crowd of women assembled to punish him. They invaded the factory where he was employed, dragged him from work, took off most of his clothing, and gave him a terrible whipping with rawhides. When they were tired of whipping him they tied him to the tail board of a cart with a placard on his breast, back setting forth the crime with which he was charged. Finally Davies was turned over to the police to be tried on a charge of incest as soon as the daughter is well enough to give her testimony.

SALVATION ARMY DEMONSTRATION

LONDON July 30. The Salvation army marched this afternoon with much parade to parliament buildings to present to the house of commons a monster petition urging the immediate passage of the criminal act amendment raising the age of consent from 13 years to 18 years. The petition contains 300,000 signatures and is one mile and a half long. It was borne in a special carriage. The procession was very large and halted on the Thames embankment whence the deputation proceeded to the house of commons to present the monster prayer.

FRANCE

THE COLONIAL CREDIT BILL

PARIS, July 30—During the Madagascar debate in the chamber of deputies to-day Clemenceau, replying to Ferry, declared that careful examination showed that no colony yielded advantages in proportion to the cost of its maintenance. Seeking after fresh colonies had been a source of loss to France. Ferry's theory that it was the duty of superior races to civilize inferior races was opposed to the rights of man. Could Ferry define the terms superior and inferior? [illegible] as inferior. Were the [illegible] inferior to the French? As for the colonial expansion policy [illegible] It was the duty of the government to ensure the safety of France, not to scatter its force. [illegible]

[illegible] the republic and preserving the colonies properly. He asked the chamber to vote the credit and proposed that the government should do its utmost to arrange that the colonies should [illegible] more than at present. The credit was then voted [illegible] to 42.

WILD SCENES IN THE CHAMBER

PARIS, July 30.—The debate in the chamber of deputies upon the colonial policy of the late ministry was conducted this evening. Clemenceau in a strong and violent speech in reply to Ferry's defense [illegible] and was frequently interrupted by shouts and yells from Ferry's friends which his enemies sought to drown in louder noise. At one [illegible] DeCassagnac shook his fist at Ferry [illegible] "You are an impudent fellow." Later in the evening Clovis Hugues and another deputy were forcibly separated as they were preparing to fight on the floor of the chamber.

DESTRUCTIVE STORMS

PARIS July 30. Terrific storms have prevailed over the southern provinces. In Lodeve, capital of the province of Avrillo lightning set fire to the priests' seminary. Many farm houses were destroyed [illegible] persons killed.

THE CHOLERA IN PARIS

PARIS July 30—Cholera is rather rising in the poor quarters of this city but is making its way into the streets of the better quarters of the capital which have hitherto been exempt.

GERMANY

BUSINESS BEFORE PATRIOTISM

BERLIN July 30.—Patriotic circles here are angered at the conduct of the North German Lloyd steamship company in evading the condition that steamers of lines subsidized by the government shall be built in Germany by taking steamers engaged in the trans-Atlantic trade for the eastern trade and replacing these Atlantic steamers with [illegible]

Maud S. Lowers the Trotting Record to 2:08 3-4

THE TRACK CONSIDERED SLOW

Platform of the Virginia Democratic Convention—A Georgia Wife's Wrongs Avenged Speedily and with a Vengeance

CLEVELAND July 30.—Maud S. renewed her claims to the title of "Queen of the turf" at the Glenville track to-day. In the presence of 10,000 people the fleet little mare trotted a mile over a slow course in 2:08¾. This beats her previous record by half a second, and is one second and a half faster than the best time ever made by any other horse. The trial was for a cup, and the time goes on record. The day was warm. There had been heavy showers during the night, and dawn broke with a great bank of damp looking clouds fringing the western sky. The heavens gradually put on a cheerful aspect, the sun grew hot, and the air murky. These conditions seemed favorable to fast time but the track was heavy. The quarter stretch was muddy but the sun and half a dozen drags improved it as the day wore on.

BETTING AGAINST HER

The understanding was that Mr Bonner requested that no pools be sold on the trial and a bulletin to that effect was posted up. There was a great deal of private betting though the odds being about $25 to $1 that the mare would fail. Sporting men bet heavily that the record would not be lowered. Wagers were taken that she could not make 2:11.

It was [illegible] o'clock when the orchard gate was lifted and Maud S. was seen coming down toward the wire with Bair in the sulky. As soon as the mare was recognized the applause began, and it was continued until she had passed beyond the grand stand. Bair drove her slowly around the track, and then gave her a warming-up mile in 2:28½. She was then taken to her stable.

When brought out an hour later for her trial mile she seemed to be in good condition. John Splan drove a runner down the stretch, and turned just behind her as Maud began her work. Before the distance stand was reached she struck a splendid clip and twenty rods from the judges stand Bair nodded for the word. Splan held a watch and followed four or five lengths behind more to post Bair as to the speed that was being made than as a help to the mare.

THE TROT

The Queen went away fast, and the first eighth post was reached in sixteen seconds.

When she rounded the turn and headed for the quarter the turn was a trifle too sharp and she went into the air. Bair stopped her, and went back for another start. When she came down the stretch for the second time she appeared to be unsteady, but Bair wanted the word and it was given. The mare recovered herself, before she had gone far, and settled down into an even clip that was like a whirlwind. She reached the first quarter in 32 [illegible] a 2:10 gait. Then Bair began to urge her, and she trotted the next quarter in 32 seconds, a 2 08 gait, reaching the half in 1:04¼.

She flew on like a bird and old timers began to declare that she was breaking her wonderful record. Passing the half she increased her speed and went over the back stretch at a terrific gait. The third quarter was trotted in thirty-one seconds the fastest one of the mile.

On the lower turn she was seen to raise her head suddenly, and it seemed certain that she would go off her feet. Bair caught her however, and on she flew. Coming up the home stretch the awful strain began to tell on her and she slowed up. Bair applied the whip, however, and she responded quickly. She [illegible] under the wire at a tremendous clip having finished the last quarter in 33½ seconds, and the mile in 2:08¾.

GREAT EXCITEMENT

No one except the judges and the reporters knew that the record had been broken and there was great excitement in the judges' stand. The watches of the three official timers, President William Edwards, C F Emery and N L Hunting had stopped at 2:08¾. Edwards made the announcement, and a wild scene followed. Bair was loaded down with roses, and the mare was presented with a beautiful floral collar.

Edwards hastily wrote the following telegram: "Robert Bonner, New York. The Cleveland Association congratulate you most heartily and thank you most sincerely for allowing your peerless queen Maud S. to show the people how easily she beat her record in the wonderful time of 2:08¾ on a track certainly one second slow, having had a hard rain at midnight."

After Maud S. went to the stable Clingstone was brought out and attempted to lower his record of 2:14 with a running mate. He failed, his quarters being 33 [illegible]

OUR STEAMSHIP MAIL SERVICE

CHICAGO, July 30.—The Times' Washington special says: The half dozen American steamship lines that have been trying for three months to coerce the postmaster general into dividing up the $400,000 congress put at his disposal, really as a subsidy, but ostensibly to enable him to get mails carried in American ships still hang together in their concerted operations, and have refused to accept the postmaster general's proposition which was that they carry the mails for the sea and inland postage for the total postage on mail matter carried by them. The pooled lines want a payment per mile which would make the transportation of one letter cost as much as transportation of a ton of letters. The postmaster general has had the names of all steamship companies that have refused his proposition stricken from the schedule of mail departures for August. In July there were thirty seven sailings of mail steamers from New York for ports in the West Indies, Mexico and Central and South America. In August there will only be eighteen mails carried [illegible] American line for nineteen sailings [illegible] the month will be divided among the steamers some American and some foreign that make the other eighteen sailings. The lines that are stopped are the Pacific Mail, Red Star, New York and Cuba, New York, Havana and Mexico. From San Francisco westward there will be four sailings instead of six. The Pacific Mail sailings for Honolulu, Sidney and Auckland and for New Zealand and Australia are dropped. The two Pacific Mail sailings from San Francisco for Panama and way ports are also dropped. From New York to Aspinwall mails will be sent direct by the Atlas line and indirectly by Jamaica. There does not appear to be any mail from San Francisco to Panama although there will be one sailing for Mexican ports. The postmaster-general has received a memorial from the San Francisco chamber of commerce asking him to subsidize the Pacific Mail Australian line, on account of the value of this line to the commerce of the Pacific coast. He replied that he has already decided that he had no authority to subsidize any steamship line and he had already offered compensation for the work of carrying the mail, and further than that he did not feel that he had the right to go. The Pacific Mail made a monthly sailing for Australia which will be discontinued and all mail matter will go by the weekly mail by [illegible] altogether. The latter is the longer route but the fact that it is weekly instead of monthly will make it equally expeditious for the greater part of the matter. The rate of postage on letters sent from the United States to Australia and New Zealand via England Brindisi and Suez has been reduced from fifteen to twelve cents making it uniform with the rate via San Francisco.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

RICHMOND Va. July 30. The democratic state convention assembled at 10 A. M. The report of the committee on resolutions was submitted. The platform pledges opposition to any increase of taxation, opposes all further agitation of the debt question, and reiterates acceptance of the final settlement of the Riddleberger bill, renews the pledge of continued support to the public school system, recommends a change in the revenue laws which will require speedy settlement by collecting officers, recommends a revision by the legislature of the operation of railroads of this state, reaffirms the declarations of the national democratic party in its last convention on the subject of tariff and especially maintains that the necessity for reductions in taxation [illegible] must be [illegible] without depriving American labor [illegible] ability to compete successfully with foreign labor. It endorses civil service reform while at the same time opposed to appointment to office of offensive partisans. It commends the administration of President Cleveland and especially the president's action in removing offensive federal officials in Virginia.

John L. Massey was then nominated for lieutenant governor on the first ballot [illegible] Ayers was nominated on the second ballot for attorney-general.

A resolution was adopted [illegible] democratic state [illegible] the death of General Grant, [illegible] that the [illegible] that he in trying hours bore himself toward the people of the south with such magnanimity and good faith [illegible] and tendering sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

AN OCTOPUS'S LOSSES

NEW YORK, July 30.—Jay Gould according to the stock exchange gossip in the Post, has suffered losses by the recent rise in Vanderbilt and Granger stocks to the amount of $1,500,000. He [illegible] 100,000 shares of Union Pacific and a large quantity of Western Union and such [illegible] Missouri Pacific, [illegible] market would [illegible] and he proposes to take the field in conjunction with the [illegible] Ohio party against the Morgan [illegible] Vanderbilt-Woerishoeffer combination.

IN MEMORY OF MONTEFIORE

NEW YORK, July 30.—The committee of the union of American Hebrew congregations here has voted that services in honor of Sir Moses Montefiore shall be held in all churches of the country on some day to be decided upon, probably the first Sunday in October.

THE BARBED WIRE MONOPOLY

CHICAGO, July 30.—A committee appointed by barbed wire manufacturers at their meeting Tuesday to arrange details of the proposed pool, submitted their report yesterday. It recommends the organization of a national barbed wire fence company, with a capital of $[illegible],000,000 divided into 20,000 shares of $100 each, the organization to be accomplished under a charter issued to a similar committee of manufacturers on December 2, 1883. The proposed company will lease the works of the several members and the officers and directors will have complete charge of the output as well as prices. Members will be stockholders. The committee reported that it would be necessary to draft an agreement to be signed by manufacturers before perfecting the proposed organization to enable the committee to draft the instrument. The meeting adjourned for one week. It is expected all manufacturers of barbed wire in the United States will sign the agreement. A majority of them attended the meeting yesterday and signified a willingness to enter into the proposed pool. The new company will probably be in operation September 1.

MEETING OF CATTLEMEN

ST LOUIS, July 30.—Another meeting of cattle men was held here to-day at which Seth Mabrey, J T McAdeland, W Ward of Kansas City representing lessees in the Cheyenne and Arapahoe reservations and the Cherokee strip, were present, as well as several St Louis men. It was agreed to memorialize the president and Messrs R D Hunter, H M Tollar, C C Rainwater and W B Thompson of this city will leave with Kansas City men to-night for Washington to place their cause directly and in person before the president.

THE MEXICAN EDITORS FEEL HURT

ST LOUIS, July 30.—The Mexican editorial excursionists arrived here about [illegible] last evening and went to the Lindell hotel. Later they held a meeting at the hotel at which they discussed some editorials that have been published here and which they construed to reflect on Mexico as a nation and especially upon Mr Talbot of Chicago, who has charge of their party. In view of these facts and in a tone of resentment they adopted a resolution setting forth their feelings and declining to accept the hospitalities of St Louis.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Intense heat still prevails throughout Illinois and Nebraska.

LYNCHED FOR BRUTALITY

A Georgia Wife's Wrongs Avenged Speedily and with a Vengeance

BAINBRIDGE, GA., July 30.—Three years ago Thomas M. Brantley came from Alabama to Bainbridge and two years ago married Mrs James O'Neal, widow of a physician who left $12,000 in real estate and other property. Until six months afterwards it was thought that the match was an exceptionally happy one. Then it became known that there was trouble but until a week ago the wife's troubles were known only to herself. She then told her story to her brother and the same day her husband was arrested for ill treatment. The story was most shocking in its details and so great was the indignation aroused among the citizens that it culminated this morning in the lynching of the prisoner.

At 1 o'clock the jailer was awakened by a pounding on the front door, and on looking out he saw that the institution was surrounded by a mob of fifty or sixty masked and armed men. He refused to surrender the keys and the party then attacked the jail, broke down the doors and windows and made their way to Brantley's cell, whence he was moved to the woods a mile or so beyond the city limits.

The jailer tried to raise a posse to go to the rescue but public sympathy was against him and no one would accompany him. The avengers placed a slip-noose around Brantley's neck and threw the other end over the limb of a tree. Then they swung Brantley up and held him there by tying the rope around an adjoining tree. All were then drawn up in line and pointing their weapons at their swinging victim they fired a volley almost simultaneously perforating Brantley's body from head to foot with bullets.

Had the law been allowed to take its course Brantley's punishment would have consisted of a small fine and a short term of imprisonment. Knowledge of this fact prompted the lynching which has the approval of almost the entire community.

THE WRECKED STEAMER ENTERPRISE

VICTORIA, July 30.—The wrecked steamer Enterprise lies fifty yards from shore in Cadboro bay. At low tide half of the boat is out of water. Yesterday afternoon hawsers were carried ashore from the wreck and an attempt made to beach her high enough so that she would be out of water at low tide. The efforts were vain as it was evident a heavy strain on the wreck would pull her to pieces. The shore is strewn with wreckage and considerable freight and baggage is piled up above tide water.

Many of the passengers of the doomed boat visited the wreck yesterday in the hope of finding articles still missing. The interior of the wreck presents a sight of indescribable confusion. Dead cattle are strewn about among boxes, bales, sofas, hairs and a mass of debris.

The two Frenchmen who were badly injured are at the French hospital. Leech the injured mate, was improving last night and his injuries are not likely to prove fatal.

Last night intelligence reached the city that the bodies of two Chinamen were found in the wreck. One was clinging to a window grating in a death grip. It was also ascertained that the two unfortunates had a large sum of money on their persons. As soon as the news reached Chinatown several Chinamen at a late hour started for the wreck with the intention of boarding the steamer and rescuing their deceased brethren and getting possession of the money.

CHARGED WITH INCEST

VICTORIA, July 30.—A man named M. R. Robbins in the police court yesterday charged his son in law Frank Ellis, with assaulting him. In court Ellis declared that Robbins had been guilty of incest with his (Ellis's) wife.

RUSSIA

DESPERATE FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

MOSCOW, July 30.—Sixty criminals who have been sentenced to exile in Siberia while en route rose against their guards, and although unarmed began a desperate fight for liberty. The battle lasted a long time, and the soldiers were absolutely unable to conquer their manacled assailants. Twenty of the men were shot dead but of the other forty thirty succeeded in making good their escape.

SHANGHAI, July 30.—It is affirmed that China will declare war if France invades Corea.

Attorney General Charles B. Roberts of Maryland publicly certifies to the remarkable efficacy of Red Star Cough Cure. This remedy is rapidly gaining favor on account of its being free from opiates and poisons, and at the same time wonderfully effective.

PACIFIC COAST.

Another Decision in the Sharon Divorce Case.

POWDER MAGAZINES BLOWN UP.

Testimony of Mrs. Prindle in the Oakland Murder Trial—The Queen of the Pacific Stranded near Port Townsend

SAN FRANCISCO July 30.—In the Sharon divorce case, on the appeal of counsel for Miss Hill the plaintiff petitioned the supreme court for rehearing of the order made June 29, which stayed the payment of alimony and counsel fees awarded her by Judge Sullivan. The supreme court has granted the petition, with a provision that rehearing be confined to argument on the character of the bond filed by Sharon, the defendant, and whether the bond is sufficient to justify the staying of payment of alimony and counsel fees. The supreme court's decision states: "In cases where the fact of marriage is the real issue, no alimony should by right be paid until the fact of marriage is properly determined for the reason that there can be no such thing as alimony unless the relation of husband and wife in fact exists." The restriction of the rehearing to the character of defendant's bond has created great dissatisfaction among counsel for plaintiff. Judge Terry, counsel for plaintiff in his brief filed to-day, takes strong exception to the decision of the supreme court, and after referring to the hardships which he claims it will continue to impose upon plaintiff, says: "If radical change is to be made in the law relating to question of alimony, as understood and acted on by the bar and courts for thirty five years, it will be a great misfortune that it should be done in this case, in favor of a very rich man, who at the time the order was made publicly declared that he would spend a million of dollars to prevent execution of the order."

INSTRUCTED TO RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Western Union telegraph company held to-day in New York a resolution was adopted that the managers of the company's offices all over the country be instructed to receive subscriptions to the fund for a national monument to General Grant. Instructions to this effect were accordingly issued to-day by Superintendent Jaynes of this city, to all the company's agents on the Pacific coast. A notice calling attention to the fact will be posted in all the offices. The agents are authorized to give an informal receipt to each subscriber, such receipt to be replaced by a formal receipt from the committee of the Grant monument association.

MARKET REVIEW

In reviewing the grain market for the week the Commercial News to-morrow will say: "Wheat is depressed by reason of lower figures abroad and the withdrawal from this market of exporters, who are unable to operate in the face of the fact that asking rates for tonnage and wheat here place the price of the latter about two shillings and sixpence above the sale value in England. Oats tend upward. Barley is firm and higher, owing to speculative causes."

PRESENTS FROM AN ISLAND KING

Dr Canisius late United States consul at the Samoan islands, who has arrived here, is bearer of a letter from King Malietoa of the Samoan islands to President Cleveland, in which he congratulates the president on his "appointment to rule over all the American people." The king sends the president gifts of mats and other native productions.

POWDER MAGAZINES BLOWN UP

NEVADA, Cal. July 30.—At 4 30 o'clock this morning two powder magazines just outside of the corporation limits were blown up, under circumstances which led to the belief that the work was done by people living in the immediate vicinity. One of the buildings was owned by Edwin Tilley, a mining superintendent. The other was a much smaller structure owned by Legg & Shaw, hardware dealers, and had been on the ground for many years. Tilley recently built his magazine, intending to use it as a storing place for safety nitro blasting powder. Before he began work residents of the locality remonstrated, and endeavored to persuade him to select a more remote spot. He obstinately refused to grant their request. Both magazines were leveled to the ground and the brick iron and tin of which they were constructed were scattered broadcast and window glass in many places was broken.

BALDWIN'S BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—The taking of the testimony of Louise C Perkins, who is suing E. J Baldwin for breach of promise, was resumed to-day. Miss Perkins testifies mainly to the circumstances of Baldwin's alleged offer of marriage, April 13, 1883 and that she accepted him at that time. He promised her they would be married in a month or so and gave her a solitaire diamond ring, a watch and bracelets. Baldwin enjoined her to keep the engagement secret. She asked him to keep his promise and he always replied that he would do so but kept putting the matter off. Her last interview with him was in March 188[illegible].

THE OAKLAND TRIAL

Defendant's Wife Tells how She was Ruined by Dr. Buck.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—In the trial in Oakland of Henry F. Prindle accused of the murder of Dr N. L. Buck, the first witness for the defense was the wife of the defendant. She is a very slight delicate woman, and she had such a light voice that she was given a seat by the jury box. On taking the stand to-day she was asked to relate what she told her husband concerning Dr. Buck's actions. Witness said that the first revelation she had made to her husband was on Easter Sunday last. She told him that she had something terrible to tell him. He asked "What, mamma?" She replied "Something about Dr Buck." He said "What about Dr Buck?" She said "I have been bad with Dr Buck."

That day I could tell him no more. A few days after I told him again that I had something to tell him of Dr Buck—something worse than the Sharon case.

"What more did you tell?" asked Mr. Fox.

"I cannot tell," said the little woman. "Do let me write it down—do let me tell it to one. I cannot tell it to so many."

"It is necessary for you yourself to tell what you told your husband."

"I cannot. I shall have to tell what Dr Buck told me because I repeated that to my husband. No one ever heard such things as Dr. Buck told me. I never heard such things. I cannot tell them."

The condition of the witness was pitiful. She sat in the chair by the jury box, with buried head and weeping eyes. Her testimony came slowly in fragments with long intervals. She described how she told her husband of Dr Buck's actions. When she first told her husband he said "You are crazy. It can't be so." Witness then related the confessions she had made to her husband in which she described the actions and repeated the words of Dr. Buck. In telling her husband of the first assault of Dr Buck she told him according to her testimony that at that time she was in Alameda recovering from sickness. Dr Buck was attending her. One day he seduced her against her will. She then stated that the confessions caused her husband intense excitement, and that he would hear but little at a time. He would leave the house and walk in the open air. One night when she was telling him he fell on the floor and lay there for an hour. Then he went out of the house and stayed away until very late. Then he returned and lay down on a lounge without removing his clothes.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

NOTES FROM SPOKANE FALLS

SPOKANE FALLS July 30—The Women's Christian Temperance Union of eastern Washington are in session at this place. About forty delegates are present. The convention will adjourn to-morrow. It voted to-day to hold the next annual session at Colfax a year from next August.

Great excitement prevails over the Colville mines. A new strike has been made in the Old Dominion mine thirty feet from the central shaft. The ledge is eight feet thick and assays $300 to $500 a ton. On August 10 forty tons will be shipped to Omaha. There is a great rush from this place and it is said the country is alive with prospectors.

The thermometer for three days past has crowded the nineties.

Spokane Falls will observe August 8.

THE QUEEN OF THE PACIFIC RUNS AGROUND.

PORT TOWNSEND, July 30.—The steamship Queen of the Pacific ran aground on Point Hudson at 3 30 this morning in a dense fog and smoke. After lightering a part of her cargo she was gotten off apparently without injury at 6 o'clock this evening with the assistance of the tug Tyee. Point Hudson is situated at the north end of Port Townsend, and terminates in a submerged spit of sand and gravel extending some distance beyond the shore line. It is gradually building up, but as there is three miles of deep water opposite, the only danger is in vessels shaving the point too closely. The Queen sails for San Francisco to-night.

ANNAM.

AFFAIRS IMPROVING

PARIS, July 30.—General DeCourcy telegraphs from Hue that affairs are improving in Annam. He has recovered $2,500,000 in treasure from Thuyet, whose father led the recent attack on the French legation at Hue. Thuyet's father has been captured, and is now a prisoner.

If you suffer from looseness of the bowels, Angostura Bitters will surely cure you. Beware of counterfeits and ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article, prepared by Dr J G B Siegert & Sons.

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1885.

ANOTHER LOOK AT IT.

Referring to the communication entitled "Restrictive Liquor Legislation," THE OREGONIAN has to remind the writer thereof, as well as the general reader, that its quoted remark, that "statutory temperance has small present and no surely permanent value," referred to prohibition, to which the article that supplies this sentence was wholly devoted. It has always been maintained by THE OREGONIAN that regulation of the liquor traffic, under restrictive measures, would produce good results, but that the attempt to depend on prohibition would simply leave the traffic free, particularly in those localities where the demand for liquors is great. This last fact is illustrated by the results in all the considerable cities and towns of our prohibition states. No doubt under restrictive laws there have been good results in Holland and other countries, and so there are good results under the high license laws of Portland. But what would be the use of trying to enforce prohibition in Portland or in Holland?

The methods commended by the writer of "Restrictive Liquor Legislation," as having produced good results in Holland and in other countries, are the very methods which this journal has always commended as practical ones, in contradistinction to the idea of prohibition, to which a considerable class of temperance reformers are exclusively devoted. Taxation of the liquor traffic is a mode of repression, or at least of restriction, if you make the tax high enough; but when you undertake to prohibit altogether you go further than most people—except in strictly rural districts—will approve, and then you have liquors sold openly, in violation of law and without any kind of restriction. The authority of the state becomes a farce, and revenue from taxation is lost.

Besides, in a moral sense, as we have heretofore attempted to explain and make clear, the moral forces, which must be the main resource of temperance reform, are weakened by neglect and desuetude. People rely on the law of the state to promote the principles and practice of abstention; their main strength is expended upon a vain effort to enforce a statute against the sale of an article for which there is a large demand, forgetful of the fact that reduction of the demand through other forms of work is the only really effective way of checking the sale. Here again we reach the principle that temperance, founded in moral development, is real temperance, while abstention founded on the effort to keep liquors out of one's way, is of small value. Our Indians—before the whites came in contact with them—are said to have been "a temperate people." They never got drunk—because they couldn't get intoxicants—but their temperance had no foundation in culture, in morals, in sense of self-respect, in duty, in principles of decency, and what was it worth? Upon the first contact with intoxicants they got drunk, of course. In every civilized country intoxicants will always be offered for sale where there are customers to buy them, and the great duty of temperance reformers, therefore, is to press that moral development which discountenances liquor drinking and diminishes the demand. It must be observed, too, that this moral development depends largely on physical conditions. Among a people who live in poverty, huddled in close and wretched habitations, with insufficient food and often worn by overwork, there is a demand for stimulating drinks that those more fortunately situated never can know. Drink thus becomes both a cause of poverty and its effect. They who think that such a problem is to be solved by statutory enactment have small conception of its difficulties.

Further, if it were possible to enforce prohibition now, this method would afford no security against intemperance for the future. This is what was meant by the remark that "statutory temperance has small present and no surely permanent value." A virtue can be taught only by pointing out the vice which is its opposite. Development of moral character is best attained, not by putting temptation out of the way, but chiefly by that instruction which should teach all, and especially the young, to shun vicious habits and immoral ways. Temperance founded on ignorance of the existence of intoxicating liquors is the kind of temperance so boasted of in the case of our Indians—it was not temperance at all. Even were it possible, for the present, to put liquors out of sight by law and keep them out of sight for a period, temperance would have no safe or permanent foundation. We should have "statutory temperance" merely, and drunkenness would surely break out again, and with accelerated force. The Maker of man knew no way to develop moral character in him but by setting temptation before him, and at every step of the moral progress of our race temptation, with its alluring vices, has been the necessary condition of all work toward better ends. As heretofore remarked, man's moral progress on any other basis is positively unthinkable. And to quote again from a great book cited in the article to which the writer of "Restrictive Liquor Legislation" refers: "Any principle that secures the safety of the individual without personal effort or the vital exercise of faculty is disastrous to moral character." The sure way to suppress evils is to teach men to shun them. This great lesson is taught in two ways: first, by the penalties which vices themselves inflict, and second, by right instruction in moral and physiological principles. The law of the state may do something in favoring circumstances if it do not attempt so much as to defeat its own objects; but it never can be effective as a main resource against the vices that attach to personal habits. It is well known that through all ages the most disgusting and destructive vices have flourished in the presence of the most stringent laws.

THE RIVER CHANNELS.

At Swan island there is twenty feet of water, on the bars at and near the mouth of the Willamette river eighteen feet, at Martin's and Walker islands seventeen feet and at St. Helens fifteen feet. These figures, furnished by the Columbia river pilots after a careful survey, expose a serious public necessity, specified in the recommendation that "sluicing be done at St. Helens, Walker's island and Martin's island so as to make a depth of at least twenty feet at lowest water." This recommendation is made to the board of trade because it is useless to call on the government engineers. The failure of congress to furnish funds has left these officers powerless. They have no money, nor the authority to contract for the payment of money in advance of its appropriation by congress. As congress will not convene till our shipping season is past, the helplessness of the situation so far as government aid is concerned may easily be understood.

The improvement of the channels is an absolute necessity before deep ships can come here and if accomplished it must be at private cost. We have done this thing before and we must do it again. Several plans of raising money have been suggested. First, there is the old plan of a subscription; second, there is a proposition to raise half the needed amount by subscription in Portland and to ask the legislature (if it shall be called together this fall) to appropriate the other half from the state treasury; third, it is proposed to raise the necessary money in Portland to be expended by the government engineers and to ask congress to repay it. All of these schemes, excepting the first, we believe to be impracticable. There is no assurance that the legislature will meet this fall nor that it would provide money for this purpose even if it should meet. Nor would the government be likely to return money spent in a temporary improvement in our own interest. We see but one way to do it and that is by a subscription in Portland. And the sooner it is done the better for the financial interest of the city and for its reputation as a shipping point.

No estimates of the cost of the work have yet been made, but it is supposed in a general way that between eight and ten thousands of dollars will be required. But possibly more will be needed.

THE PLACE OF BURIAL.

The New York Times repeats, in several different places on the same page, the words of General Grant as to selection of a place for interment of his remains, giving special emphasis to selection of New York, "because," as General Grant says, "the people of that city befriended me in my need." It quotes from Tennyson's ode on the death of the Duke of Wellington, to make the suggestion more impressive:

Where shall we lay the man whom we deplore?
Here in streaming London's central roar.
Let the sound of those he wrought for
And the feet of those he fought for
Echo round his bones forevermore.

It will be remembered that General Grant, on the 24th of June wrote and handed to his son, Col. Fred. Grant, the following:

There are three places from which I wish a choice of burial place to be made:

West Point.—I would prefer this above others but for the fact that my wife could not be placed beside me there.

Galena or some place in Illinois.—Because from that state I received my first General's commission.

New York.—Because the people of that city befriended me in my need.

West Point not being considered for the reason stated, the choice, by the general's request, was limited to New York or some place in Illinois. It will be seen, therefore, that the family could scarcely be expected to yield to the appeal to allow the general's remains to be interred at Washington, though the argument therefor, founded on the national character of the great soldier and ex-president is appropriate. The city of New York seems clearly better than any place in Illinois, and Riverside park is perhaps the most appropriate place in the city. It is in every way proper that there should be substantial conformity to the wish of General Grant himself, and this has been studied by his family, without forgetting the claims of the country upon the illustrious dead.

CONFEDERATE AND EX-CONFEDERATE.

Democrats who were taunting republicans with the fact that their party in Virginia had nominated an ex-confederate soldier for the governorship, may now turn their attention to the fact that their own party in that state has nominated a confederate; and not only so, but they may note that their candidate has made a speech which shows that there is a striking difference between a confederate and an ex-confederate soldier. General Fitzhugh Lee, in accepting the democratic nomination, referred with great show of pride to the fact that, though an officer of the United States in 1861, he had abandoned the national service "at the call of Virginia," and "now again the state had called him to aid her in riding down her enemy." Nothing could better illustrate the spirit of Bourbonism in the south. When a candidate proudly compares his entrance into a political contest, for the purpose of riding down the enemy, with his entrance into the rebellion to overthrow the authority of the United States, whose sworn officer he was, and commends himself to his party by this comparison, the incident leaves no room to raise a question as to the quality of "democracy" in Virginia. If there are confederate soldiers who have got out of these ruts of sectionalism, let the country be glad of it. But such soldiers are not now in the democratic party. The real difference between Wise and Lee is that the former is an ex-confederate while the latter is still a confederate soldier. Whether Lee will succeed in riding down the enemy again, any better than he did on the former occasion to which he so proudly adverts, will be determined by the ability of his opponents to stop terrorism and slaughter and "riding down" methods in general, and to prevent the customary frauds upon the ballot-boxes.

MR. DOLPH'S ADDRESS.

Senator Dolph spoke yesterday, as usual, with frankness and good sense. His address was to business men and very properly was confined to business matters. The expressions of opinion on the Nicaragua canal question and respecting matters of closer local interest were such, we believe, as will meet with general approval. It is eminently proper that representatives of the people should meet and talk with the people to learn their wishes and catch their spirit. Such an occasion was that of yesterday. It was in no sense political. There was nothing in it out of the order of commonplace, and Mr. Dolph, while talking freely, made no effort for sensation or effect.

While Mr. Dolph's remarks were addressed particularly to the business men of Portland, there is much in them which applies to the business interests of the whole state. The people of Eastern Oregon will read with interest the senator's cordial favor of the scheme for opening a clear steamboat way through all that part of the Columbia river within United States territory, and the people of the state at large should regard as far themselves his suggestions as to a future industrial policy. Mr. Dolph truly says that we can not longer depend for prosperity on our raw products of wheat, wool, salmon and timber. The time has come when we must work up these and other materials which are before us in abundance. Indeed, the whole address is full of interest, and in giving it to the public in full we commend it to popular attention.

OMAHA A COMPETITOR.

When we remarked a few days back that an effort would be made to secure the business of the new Union county mining district for Omaha we did not know that Omaha men were already in the field. A correspondent reports that the Oregon Short Line is now surveying a route into the mines. The same company has also given free transportation for two tons or more of ore to Omaha, and a pass there and back for a party to accompany the shipment. On the other hand, the Oregon Railway and Navigation company is doing nothing to secure the trade for Portland, though it has a great advantage over the Short Line in the matter of grade and distance.

Our correspondent declares that there seems no doubt of the richness of the mines nor of their very great extent. He adds: "The new mining camp of Cornucopia now has a population of about 100, which is growing daily at the rate of 30 to 50 per day. I witnessed the pounding out of $61.45 from 590 pounds of rock taken from the 'Allen Cox' mine. The 'Whitman' is equally as rich. No doubt many of the other mines will turn out rich though they are of a different class of ore."

Surely, the business interests of Portland will not allow a field which promises so much profit to slip away from us? It can easily be secured for Portland and if we fail to do it we don't deserve to prosper.

SUMMER FIRES.

At each recurrence of midsummer it seems necessary to warn the country against the danger and damage of forest fires. The season is again upon us, and again we must remind campers and others that carelessness in the matter of fire may be the occasion of incalculable damage, present and future. Greater care should be exercised, too, in the handling of fire in clearing up wild land. It is comparatively easy to turn "slashings" toward the center, and by this method the danger of extension beyond desired limits is greatly lessened. On the other hand, fire set out in the middle of a "slash" is more than likely to reach out on every side where there is anything to burn. Our timber is valuable not only as it is used, but as it attracts rain and modifies the heat of summer. Its careless or wanton destruction ought to be a crime under the law.

The prevailing and all-enveloping smoke of the past few days comes from great fires to the north and west, in the unsettled regions of Columbia and Clatsop counties. While the smoke is a nuisance in some respects, it is not without advantage in that it mitigates the severity of the summer sun, and so is a protection to grain fields not yet fully ripe.

At Cleveland yesterday Maud S. trotted a mile in 2:08¾, lowering her own record by half a second and that of her nearest rival by a second and a half. This accomplishment is considered of great importance by horsemen, but THE OREGONIAN, not being sportive in its tastes, is unable to see that a half second matters much. We have never been able to see why, when a few seconds seem to make so much difference in the success of a race, they don't start a little sooner.

The census of Milwaukee, just completed, gives the city a population of 158,[illegible]. In 1880 the population was 115,578; the gain in five years is 42,7[illegible], or 8,5[illegible] annually. This, certainly, is a remarkable growth, considering the proximity of Milwaukee to Chicago.

"The military fame of General Grant stands on the rock of great results," So said ex-President Hayes in his speech last week. This remark was a very happy one.

RESTRICTIVE LIQUOR LEGISLATION.

CORVALLIS, July 25.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

THE OREGONIAN a few days ago stated boldly that "statutory temperance has small present and no surely permanent value." Let me add thereto a few European statistics.

In Holland in 1878 there was a drinkshop for every ninety persons. A restrictive law of 1881 has reduced the number with the consumption of alcoholic drinks about a quarter. In Belgium where there had been a licensed cabaret for every dozen adult males, in less than fifty years the drinking of strong liquour has far more than doubled for each person. I can testify from personal observation to more apparent drunkenness in Belgium than in eight other European countries I have visited. In France the amount of drunkenness has been reduced by the passing of a statutory law. In the decade following 1870, the population of Switzerland increased 6.6 per cent, and public houses 22 per cent. The testimony of all tourists is to a fearful increase of drunkenness—so much so that a reliable sober Alpine guide is now a rare thing to find.

In Denmark where the law has been very lax, 74 per cent of the arrests have been for drunkenness, or for crimes brought about by drink. In Belgium, already referred to, prison reports attribute four fifths of the crime and social misery to intemperance. In Austria the hospitals and prisons testify to the advance of drinking habits as fostered by the law. The human race is pretty much the same on this side of the water. Statistics are perpetually stepping in to prove it. If, as stated, there is so much illicit drinking in the prohibited states with the present type of manhood, how much more would there be if the law made it easier? What the 'eye does not see the heart does not feel' is a true adage, to which add two more gateways of invitation—the ear enticed by the sound of revelry, and the olfactory nerve, imbibing the odor that inflames the brain. The scientist tells us from post mortem examination of the drinking man that his brain is made up of abnormal molecules of matter, both of size and texture. This latter day discovery of scientific observation explains the story I heard at one of the first temperance meetings I ever attended as told by a London clergyman. After hearing the lamentations of a drunkard's wife, "My good woman," said he, "why don't you go and fetch your husband home from work yourself?" "Please sir, that's what I do and I can drag him past twelve public houses, but the thirteenth beats me. He gets the smell of 'em so into his nose there is no getting by any more."

LA CAMAS ITEMS.

LA CAMAS, July 30.

W. F. Mills had the misfortune to run his foot against a splinter yesterday receiving an injury which will lay him up for a few days.

About 8 o'clock Wednesday morning the piledriver used in the construction of the La Camas and Tacoma railroad broke a guy and toppled over carrying with it Hiram Dentist and a man named Taylor, both of Washougal. Dentist, with catlike activity, sprang from the ladder and escaped, but Taylor was badly injured and carried insensible to his home in Washougal. It is thought he may recover.

Variety is the Spice of Life.

There is variety in the letters received by Mrs. Lydia Pinkham testifying to the cures effected by her Vegetable Compound and the great relief afforded to thousands of women in all sections. Mrs. C—— of Toronto says: "I have taken three bottles with very gratifying results." Mrs. Stephen B—— of Shefford, Quebec says: "I am now using the fourth bottle and have derived great benefit already." Sarah C—— of Eugene City, Oregon, says: "It is the best medicine for the female sex I have ever found." Mrs. C—— of Santa Fe says: "Your Compound has done me a great deal of good." Mrs. H. S. D—— of Portland, Me., says: "It has done for me all it claimed to and I cheerfully recommend it to all suffering as I have done." Mrs. D. H. F—— of Lexington, Va., says: "I have taken one bottle and I assure you I feel a great deal better. I feel strong as ever and I've never felt a pain in my back since the second dose."

U. S. Marshal's Notice.

ADMIRALTY SEIZURE — THE "GENERAL HANCOCK," the "Blue Rock" and the "Commodore." United States of America, District of Oregon, ss. Whereas, a libel hath been filed in the District Court of the United States, for the district of Oregon, on the 15th day of July 1885, by Mr. John H. Woodward, proctor on behalf of William J. Miller, in a cause of contract for seaman's wages, civil and maritime, against the Barges "General Hancock," "Blue Rock," and "Commodore," their tackle, apparel and furniture, and praying the usual process and monition of the court, that all persons interested in the said vessels, their tackle, apparel and furniture may be cited to appear and answer the premises and all due proceedings being had that the same may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law. Therefore in pursuance of the said monition under the seal of the said court to me directed and delivered on the 15th day of July 1885, I do hereby give notice generally unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest in the said vessels called the "General Hancock," the "Blue Rock," and the "Commodore," their tackle, apparel and furniture to appear before the said court, at the city of Portland in said district, on the 7th day of September 1885—if it be a court day, or else on the next court day thereafter—at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day then and there to answer the said libel and to make known their allegations in that behalf. Dated at Portland, in said district, the 17th day of July 1885.
PENUMBRA KELLY,
U. S. Marshal for the District of Oregon.
JOHN H. WOODWARD, Proctor for Libellant. (20)jy17

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

CAUGHT STEALING PIG IRON.—Down on the Mersey dock is piled up some 200 tons of pig iron and for some time past it has been known that some one was stealing from the pile In all about four tons have been taken Yesterday little Johnny Mooney the one legged boy who has so often been before the police judge, was detected with four pigs of the iron in a boat under the wharf and was arrested by policemen Ward and Myers He fought like a wildcat throwing away his crutch and lying on his back With his one bare foot he tore Ward's coat badly and when subdued, said he wished he had a revolver that he might shoot the officer He was at last persuaded to take his crutch and come to jail where he said he would get a shot at Ward yet Mooney is a little quite a large boy now but it is difficult to imagine how he could handle pigs of iron and it is considered certain that he had some confederate [illegible] more hardened looking boy than Mooney it is impossible to imagine When in the cell he looked as vicious as a rat penned in a corner The boy is a natural born thief, is hardly responsible for his actions as he never had any training except in crime He is likely to go to the penitentiary this time and it is to be hoped that those who have abetted him may accompany him

DELIGHTFUL CHANGE.—At a quarter to 2 o clock yesterday morning a smart shower of rain fell, lasting only a few minutes At 3 o'clock when The Oregonian reporters were wending their way home, vivid flashes of lightning were seen and shortly after the thunder roared and rattled through the sky and several showers of rain of brief duration fell The amount of damage done by the thunder in the way of souring milk and beer cannot be approximately given, but as none of the reporters were injured by the lightning, it is to be presumed that it was not the striking kind, and that nothing was hurt by it. The storm cleared the atmosphere and yesterday a cool and refreshing breeze obviated the necessity of using fans and caused [illegible] seal skin coats to be hung up for a season. The change was most welcome to all, and to none more so than the busy toilers in the harvest fields throughout the valley who, in the sweat of their brows, are earning their bread by garnering bread for thousands of others

DIAMOND THIEF CAPTURED.—A shawl pin, set with nine diamonds and valued at $600, which E Weber had placed in his safe at the Cosmopolitan saloon for safe keeping was missed about a week ago It was supposed that while taking some papers from the safe it had been dropped on the floor, and as a Chinaman, who had cleaned up the place, quit work soon after, he was suspected of having found and kept it. The matter was placed in the hands of the police, and yesterday Policeman Simmons arrested the Chinaman, Ah Sam and recovered the diamonds. The thief had taken them out of the pin and had traded two of them for a diamond ring The other seven he had stowed away in his room. He had intended to start for the flowery land to-day but this little unpleasantness will interfere with his departure

TEST OF THE WATER COMPANY'S MAINS.—Yesterday Chief Morgan ordered out No 2's hose-cart and attached 200 feet to the hydrant of the Portland Water company at the corner of Third and Stark streets, for the purpose of making a test of the facilities thus afforded for the extinguishing of fires There was a registered pressure of sixty six pounds on the main at the time and the stream through a 1¼ inch nozzle was thrown straight for over 100 feet, while at an elevation it reached nearly 60. Such a stream will be of great value in case of any fire along Third street or its intersections within a block. With this main, the engines and the hydrants of the elevator company, there is no city better protected in case of fire than is Portland from Fifth street to the river

THE "PORGIE" NOT ALONE.—The viviparous perch which furnishes so much sport and so many passable meals to seaside visitors, to whom it is commonly known as "the porgie," is supposed by many to be the only fish on the coast which produces its young alive This is a mistaken idea, as David S Jordan, the great authority on American fishes, states that seventy five species of North American fishes are viviparous The greater number of these belong to the family of surf fishes of which the "porgie" is a member This trait of the surf fishes is an evidence of the eternal fitness of things as fish which live in the surf along this coast would hardly find any place where they could deposit their spawn in safety with any hope of its coming to maturity

SALMON FISHING ENDED.—Several men carrying the immense tin dinner buckets and water kegs peculiar to salmon fishermen, came up on the Astoria boat yesterday They said that nearly all the fishermen had quit work although the season does not close till to-night as there were no fish to catch The July run this year was nothing compared with that of last season which was immense Canners and shippers are now figuring on the amount of this season's pack which the best judges estimate at from 500,000 to 525,000 cases. At the beginning of the season some were of opinion that it would not exceed 300 000. The pack last season was about 645 000 cases

BACK FROM WIND RIVER.—R. K. Bybee and party returned yesterday from a fishing trip to Wind river They met with fair success but the trip was shortened and its pleasure marred by one of the company hurting his foot on a boulder in the stream which is one of the wickedest and wildest in the northwest They were right royally treated by the people at Borthwick and Primus mills who when they left were making extensive preparations for giving a rousing reception to Mr Borthwick and his bride the latter a lady from the [illegible] Borthwick [illegible] Walla Walla [illegible] Wednesday

SEASIDE RESORT TRIPS.—Until the end of the season the R. R Thompson will run as at present leaving at 5 30 A M on Tuesday and Thursday and at 10 A M on Saturday, for Astoria Ilwaco and Clatsop. The Gen Miles waits at Astoria for her and comes alongside so that passengers save nothing by starting on the earlier steamers The early steamers leave as usual at 6 every morning except Sunday from Ash street The O R & N tickets are good for return on either the R R Thompson Wide West or Mountain Queen which is a great convenience over being compelled to wait for any particular steamer

NIGHT TRIP.—On her Saturday night trip to Astoria and Ilwaco the Lurline leaves the foot of Alder street at 8 P M arrives at Astoria at 4 A M next morning connects with the steamer General Miles or the new steamer General Canby for Ilwaco which leaves Astoria at 6 A. M., instead of at 8, as heretofore Arrangements will be made so that the Lurline passengers will leave Ilwaco returning at 6 or 6 30 P M Sunday night thus giving from ten to eleven hours on the beach to those who take the Lurline Saturday night [illegible] patch brass band of Portland goes down with the Lurline this Saturday night

RAILWAY TO VANCOUVER.—The Multnomah railway company have executed a mortgage to the California Safe Deposit & Trust company of San Francisco as trustee which will be filed in the county clerk's office to day to secure $ [illegible] on the railroad company's bonds with the proceeds of which it is proposed to build and equip a railroad from Portland to Vancouver This is an unique road and will undoubtedly pay well from the day it shall be ready for business The building of the road will bring into market and make valuable the lands lying adjoining and adjacent to the route

RETURNED FROM PUGET SOUND.—Chaplain Stubbs and wife and daughter Vessa have returned to the city, after an absence of about three weeks During their absence they have visited Victoria Seattle and Tacoma. The chaplain's health has improved and the trip has been beneficial to all the family The Bethel interests on the Sound have been looked after and the chaplain was invited to occupy pulpits in the cities of Tacoma and Seattle

DESTRUCTIVE FIELD MICE.—W. E. [illegible] of North Yamhill complains that field mice have destroyed some wheat on his farm Several years ago field mice were very troublesome in some parts of the Willamette valley One winter they were drowned out under a field of snow. If they are coming again it is a matter worthy of attention looking to their speedy extermination

ERRONEOUS STATEMENTS.—The managers of the Portland baseball club wish it stated that the alleged reasons given by a city paper for playing next Sunday a game at Vancouver and also the statement that the prize for said game can be seen in Henrichsen & Greenberg's window are both erroneous and were published without authority from the club

FAILED TO GET HIBBS.—Marshal E. T. Dubois of Idaho who under orders from the president went to Victoria a few weeks ago to take charge of Hibbs the defaulting postmaster passed through the city yesterday en route home, without his man. If the provincial government decides to surrender Hibbs Mr. Dubois will go again to Victoria for him

CALL FOR A PUBLIC MEETING.—Mayor Gates has [illegible] for a public meeting to be held at the [illegible] tomorrow evening for the purpose of [illegible] for the proper [illegible] services [illegible] the day of General Grant's funeral [illegible] will doubtless be properly [illegible] and duly [illegible]

CONSIDERABLE DIFFERENCE.—In the item headed "Our River Channels" [illegible] yesterday morning [illegible] In the [illegible] the [illegible] for "Second 10 30" There is a considerable difference and all careful readers will have noticed the presence of some sort of error

SENATOR DOLPH.

His Address to Business Men and Others in this City Yesterday.

A Comprehensive Review of the Business Situation of Portland and the Northwest and the Outlook for the Future

By invitation of the board of trade, Senator J. N. Dolph who is on the eve of departure for the east yesterday addressed the business men of the city and others at the board room in New Market building Mr Donald Macleay, who presided addressed Mr Dolph as follows

Mr Dolph —You have been invited here to-day to meet your fellow citizens, members of the board of trade in order that we may enjoy an opportunity of thanking you in person for the vast amount of good work in behalf of our state and the adjoining territories which has marked the beginning of your senatorial career You have accomplished so much in our behalf that it is with difficulty that I can confine my remarks to the more important results of your labors To begin with the greatest triumph of all you succeeded in obtaining what years of unsuccessful effort had almost caused us to despair of—an appropriation for the commencement of works upon the improvement of the mouth of the Columbia river Following this up, you acted as our representative at the last annual meeting of the national board of trade on which occasion you delivered an exhaustive and convincing argument in behalf of the continuance of the work of improving the Columbia river, setting forth in the clearest possible light the fact that the river constitutes a great natural highway and that its improvement is and should be a national and not a local undertaking.

You have been largely instrumental in procuring for us a supply of valuable food fishes for planting in our lakes and rivers and the contemplated establishment of a salmon hatchery will add another to the many debts we owe you.

You have aided us in securing better postal facilities over routes which are of benefit to the people of Oregon and Washington territory, and in having authority invested in the local postoffice authorities to expend money should any blockade of mail routes arise similar to that of last winter

In short, sir, we have much to thank you for in the past, and it is our earnest desire to strengthen your hands and to co-operate with your future efforts in our behalf by every means in our power We therefore invite you to address the board upon such topics as may seem best to you and more especially to point out to us wherein we can aid you in order that our assistance may be intelligently rendered

In reply Mr. Dolph said

Mr President and Members of the Portland Board of Trade Quite unexpectedly upon my return from Alaska yesterday I received your invitation to meet and confer with you At first, in view of my contemplated early departure to rejoin my family in the east and the fact that my time until then would be necessarily fully occupied, I thought I could not arrange to meet you, but ascertaining that I could not leave to-day, this meeting was called I did not understand that it was expected that I should do more than to listen to the suggestions of the board and perhaps informally discuss plans for the future

I was a little surprised, therefore, to see in the morning papers a notice that I would address the board this afternoon and deem it proper and but just to myself to say that whatever I may say at this time must be suggested by the occasion and by the address to which you have just listened and that I have not for the reasons stated been able to prepare anything for your consideration

I am surprised as well as gratified at the very flattering address to myself by the president of the board, as your representative I had not sought any public expression in regard to my official course, and expected to return to the east as I came to Portland, unannounced I am however thankful for your kind words Next to the satisfaction arising from the consciousness of having done one's duty, I think is the knowledge that what one has done is understood and appreciated I scarcely know how to respond in fitting terms to the address of your president. I think I am justified in saying, however, that I have to the best of my ability labored to inform myself as to the wants of our state and to promote its interests. Although our delegation in the last congress did not accomplish all that was hoped for, with more experience and larger acquaintance on my part more may be accomplished in the future At all events I shall to the extent of my ability co-operate with the other members of the delegation in every effort looking to that end During the last senatorial contest one or more of the newspapers in the state stated that I was the representative of Portland and the commercial interests of the country rather than the farming and producing classes. If anything was intended by such statement except that I am a citizen of Portland and that the little property I own is mainly situated in Portland and that I am alive to her interests, the statement was untrue and unjust I am not conscious of having been in any sense a special representative of Portland or having preferred her interests to the interests of any other portion of the state, but I have endeavored to represent with equal zeal and watchfulness all localities and all interests From my standpoint there are no conflicting interests between Portland and the interior towns or Portland and the country, and there should be no antagonisms between them.

The development and growth of each will be governed by the channels of commerce the laws of trade and the circumstances of location and local industries and booming processes will have no permanent effect in determining the commercial importance of either Portland and [illegible] [illegible] Astoria [illegible] from the [illegible] of the human body so the prosperity of Portland by the numerous channels of transportation and trade is diffused to every portion of the state to build up its material resources and as the country grows and prospers Portland and other commercial centres through the same channels share in the general prosperity To particularize I do not regard the improvement of the lower Columbia as in the interest of Portland alone the improvement of the mouth of the river as in the interest of Astoria alone or the construction of the Cascade locks as in the interest of Eastern Oregon and Washington alone Every one of these improvements when completed will prove a lasting benefit to the people not only of the entire state but to the residents of the entire basin of the Columbia. As a citizen of Portland without reference to my official connection with the state, I hope to see the day when the largest ocean vessels may enter with safety the Columbia river and come to Portland without breaking cargo and when the Columbia may be navigated a thousand miles from its mouth without interruption

The things in which the general government can constitutionally and properly aid the states are comparatively few Perhaps the most important of them is the improvement of rivers and harbors There is a division of sentiment upon the question of the propriety if not of the power of congress to make appropriations for this purpose and it is not probable that any radical improvement in the manner of making appropriations for such work can be hoped for in the near future When the extent and number of the improvements now being carried on by the government—the improvement of the principal rivers and harbors on the Atlantic and the Gulf from St Croix to the Rio Grande the Mississippi and its tributaries the chain of the great lakes and the Pacific coast—it will be seen that although the appropriations for the improvement of rivers and harbors in Oregon appear to be small they have really been a fair proportion of the entire appropriations The importance of the appropriation made at the last session of the last congress for the improvement of the mouth of the Columbia river to which my [illegible] president has referred not alone to the people of Oregon Washington and Idaho but to the commercial interests of the entire country can not be overestimated Compared with the magnitude and importance of the work and the appropriations made for works of like character and magnitude elsewhere the appropriation was small but its importance is not so much on account of the amount as it is from the fact that it secures the commencement of a great work much needed and too long delayed The present tendency is to construct deep draft vessels The large steamships recently built for the Atlantic trade draw when loaded from twenty six to twenty eight feet and are compelled to wait for the tide to cross Sandy Hook and enter New York harbor By reason of the increase of draft of these vessels a greater depth of water upon the bar is needed and congress in the last river and harbor appropriation bill made an appropriation for deepening the channel The mouth of the Columbia is no doubt entirely capable of improvement so as to allow the safe passage of the largest ships, and a like improvement of the lower Columbia and Willamette rivers is a work of much less magnitude and difficulty This great work has not been commenced any too soon to relieve our present commerce and to enable us to secure our share of the future commerce of the coast There are annual appropriations made by congress, of which I have endeavored to secure for Oregon its portion Among these is the appropriation for geological survey I have the assurance that in the near future the survey now being made in northern California will be extended northward into Oregon [illegible] the Oregon & Transcontinental Company and the discontinuance of the geological survey upon the lands of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company the work done under the supervision of Professor Pumpelly was donated to the United States and I [illegible] that at an early date the unfinished work will be taken up by the government I have endeavored also to secure Oregon's share of the appropriations annually expended under the supervision of the United States fish commissioner At my solicitation last winter the commissioner signified his willingness to ship a carload of lake white fish to Oregon and Washington territory if free transportation was procured from St Paul Upon my request the president of the Northern Pacific railroad company and the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company generously and cheerfully agreed to transport the fish commissioner's car over their lines Upon examination it was found that our lakes were too remote from the lines of transportation to warrant the shipment of white fish until arrangements should be made in Oregon for the receipt of the fish at the [illegible] station nearest to the lakes and the transportation of them to their destination and shad was substituted The plan was to place the shad in the Willamette river at Eugene City so as to be beyond the reach of the salmon which do not pass the falls and shad are the deadly enemies of the [illegible] had but the car having been delayed upon the Northern Pacific by a washout I understand it was found necessary to put the fish into the Willamette at Portland

The fish commissioner also proposes to ship to Oregon next year a car load of eastern clams and lobsters I have given some attention to the selection of a site for a salmon hatchery It has been stated and if a suitable location can be found I have no doubt with the good will of the fish commissioner which we have our delegation will be able to secure an appropriation for a hatching station

Among other matters of legislation of interest to the northwest secured by the Oregon delegation at the last session was the act for the allotment of land in severalty to the Indians upon the Umatilla reservation So large a tract of agricultural land lying comparatively unoccupied and uncultivated in the center of an agricultural region like Umatilla county is a great obstacle to the development of the country, and the allotment of a portion of the reservation to the Indians in severalty so that it may be cultivated by the Indians themselves or by their lessees and the absorption of the balance by farms is a consummation devoutly to be hoped for And it is to be hoped that the necessary assent of the Indians to the execution of the law may be speedily obtained Not only is this desirable to the development of that portion of the state, but it is for the best interests of the Indians themselves Next in importance to the improvement of our rivers and harbors for the promotion of our material growth and commercial prosperity is the construction of the Nicaragua canal to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans The press dispatches in what purported to be a report of the vote of the senate upon the Nicaragua treaty did not report either myself or Senator Slater as voting upon the question of its adoption and I noticed some newspaper criticisms upon the subject There would have been no occasion for comments by the newspapers if it had been remembered that all treaties are considered in secret executive session of the senate and senators and the employes are not at liberty to divulge what is said or done unless and until the injunction of secrecy is removed. Even now I am not at liberty to inform you whether I was there or whether I voted upon the question of the ratification of the treaty, or if I voted how I voted On this occasion time will not permit of a discussion of this great project, suffice it to say that I am convinced that the Nicaragua canal route is the most economical route for the canal It is shown to be entirely practicable. Nearly three-fourths of the distance is by natural water channels, which can be made navigable with a comparatively small outlay, and between the two oceans on the route is a large fresh water lake with ample harbor facilities for the safe anchorage of the fleets of the world—facilities for coaling, supply stations, machine shops ship yards and dry docks The engineer of the Maritime Coal Company Mr Menecal and others estimate the total cost of the canal including improvements of harbors, at $41 000,000, allowing for all contingencies, and it would appear as if double that sum or $82 000,000 ought to build the canal The Suez canal cost $92 000 000 including the harbor at Port Said and it is claimed that it could now be built for half that sum.

The importance of such a canal to the commerce of Oregon would be better understood when it is stated that the saving in distance by the canal from Portland to New York would be 8600 miles and from Portland to Liverpool 6100 miles. It has been estimated by competent authority that the annual saving of freight to the Pacific coast with our present commerce would be at least $9 000 000 and that the saving would increase annually $1 000 000

Whatever the cost of the construction of the canal I believe that the opportunity to secure the right to construct it and the control of it when constructed ought not to be lost. It is believed by some that our treaty with Great Britain commonly known as the Clayton Bulwer treaty is in the way of the Nicaragua treaty I believe with Secretaries Fish, Blaine and Frelinghuysen that that treaty so far as it relates to our inter-oceanic canal across the isthmus has lapsed become obsolete and inoperative It was made concerning a then existing canal project undertaken by private parties or private corporations which failed and has long since been abandoned and the circumstances of the contracting parties have so changed that it would be most unjust and burdensome to the United States to be perpetually held to the provisions of the treaty in that regard And at any rate it is time that the United States refused to be longer hampered in respect to an isthmian canal by the improvident agreement entered into thirty five years ago I am in favor of making the treaty with Nicaragua, constructing the canal and negotiating with Great Britain afterwards. I think my position on the Nicaragua treaty is now understood by you and I have not violated any rule of the senate either But after all it is little the general government can do to promote the development or prosperity of the country Our development will depend largely upon our own exertions Heretofore our growth has been steady supported mainly by our agricultural interests I fear that we can no longer depend entirely upon our wheat wool fish and lumber While there has probably never been a more abundant wheat crop in this state and the crop is a failure in other portions of the United States that fact will not secure us such a price for our wheat as would have been the case ten or fifteen years since Russia has largely extended the area of her wheat cultivation and has adopted improved machinery for planting harvesting and threshing, and India with her vast tracts of land adapted to wheat raising being reached by railroads constructed and operated by the government with labor worth but eleven cents a day, have become serious competitors with the United States in the wheat markets of the world What we need in this country and what we must have before our prosperity can be placed upon solid basis are manufactories Our woolen goods clothing leather boots and shoes agricultural implements carriages furniture hardware iron and steel rails locomotives and cars ought to be manufactured here and give employment to our own citizens instead of our paying tribute to the citizens of other states and of foreign countries I am gratified with the fast returning prosperity I believe I might say continued prosperity of the northwest and especially of the city of Portland which I have witnessed since my return It is inevitable with the general financial depression the country the cessation of railroad construction and the reaction after speculation caused by sanguine belief in the immediate growth of the country after railway connection with the east should have been followed by a [illegible] [illegible] in Oregon and Washington territory and I believe that here at least the worst is over and that with our large [illegible] [illegible] the prospect of better prices [illegible] may look this fall for better times From the information I can obtain the crop of Oregon this year is equal to the wheat crop of California [illegible] for exportation must be very [illegible] We have all thought perhaps that [illegible] part of Oregon has been [illegible] our great distance hitherto from the [illegible] portions of the country and the [illegible] Oregon our growth has [illegible] remarkable It is but a little over [illegible] since the United States acquired the territory known as the Louisiana purchase [illegible] Oregon Washington and Idaho [illegible] exploration under Lewis and Clarke [illegible] the purchase which was then an unknown wild ness from an undefined west from the east of the Mississippi to the Pacific ocean And it is but half of that period since under the leadership of Dr Whitman the first emigrant train crossed the continent to Oregon I need not recount the changes which have taken place It [illegible] is no longer a wilderness It is crossed by competing lines of railroads Cities and towns and cultivated farms have taken the place of buffalo prairies and Indian villages and states and territories have been carved out of the then vast unexplored and unknown regions

In stead of a journey of four months from civilization as Oregon was when Dr Whitman piloted his ox team across the continent we are but six days travel distant from the commercial centers of the Atlantic coast It cost the Lewis and Clarke expedition two years of danger deprivation and hardship to cross the continent and return but now a trip across the continent and to and more [illegible] of Alaska in palace cars and on [illegible] steamships is but a pleasure trip for a few weeks of summer vacation

I have an abiding faith in the great future of the Pacific Northwest No one country possesses all the elements of greatness and all the attractions for settlers with no disadvantages But I am certain that no other portion of the United States to day offers more inducements for settlement and [illegible] than the Pacific Northwest and in the future as in the past I pledge myself to do what I can to co-operate with your honorable body and all organizations having for their object similar purposes to make the advantages of the country known and to aid in developing its resources. I thank you again for this meeting and your kind words concerning myself

Mr Dolph was heard with evident appreciation and favor and as he took his seat was warmly applauded.

Hon S. Hirsch then proposed for adoption the following resolution which he thought expressed the sentiments of all who had followed Mr Dolph's efforts in behalf of the state

Resolved, That the board of trade of Portland Oregon as a representative of the business community thanks the Hon. J N Dolph for his efforts in our behalf in furthering the improvements of the rivers and harbors of Oregon and Washington territory for his able argument in the national board of trade and for his interest in the prospective establishment of salmon hatcheries and for his continued attention to the interests of all portions of our state

Resolved, That we especially commend to the attention of our senator and representative in congress the vast importance of the improvement of the navigation of the Columbia river and its tributaries the pushing of work upon the Cascade locks canal and the early commencement of work upon the contemplated canal from The Dalles to Celilo whereby we will be afforded uninterrupted river navigation from the Inland Empire to the ocean to the Columbia [illegible] distance of [illegible]

Resolved, That the board of trade further hopes that congress at the coming session may grant further appropriations to aid the prosecution of work at the various harbors of Oregon the improvement of which was impeded by the failure of the river and harbor bill

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the Hon J N Dolph

Hon H. W Corbett in seconding Mr Hirsch's motion said that he desired to give emphasis to the fact that Mr Dolph had been the faithful representative of the whole people the country as well as the city. The resolutions were carried by unanimous vote and on motion of Mr Corbett the meeting adjourned

COMMON COUNCIL MEETING

A special meeting of the common council of East Portland was held last evening for the purpose of reading and re enactment of old ordinances. President Wheeler occupied the chair and all members were present except Laing The minutes of the last special meeting were read and approved The following ordinances were read the first and second times and referred to appropriate committees "Relating to city surveyor," "For the prevention of fires" and "Concerning repairs of sidewalks and obstructions of sidewalks and streets The committee on ways and means submitted a report recommending that the final reading of the ordinances relating to the city recorder be deferred until the next regular meeting, and that those relating to the city attorney city treasurer, street commissioner and collection of delinquent taxes be passed as read The report was adopted and the ordinances indicated read the third time and passed Committees to whom other ordinances were referred asked further time to report and were allowed until next meeting to do so Adjourned

TRAMPS AGAIN.

As a party of young men were returning home from Albina along the railroad track night before last a gang of tramps approached them near Shaver's warehouse, evidently bent on mischief, but were scared back by the party drawing their pocket knives and exhibiting them conspicuously They hastened to town, lodged information with Officers Jerelemin and Stafford, joined in a posse that was at once organized and returned to the tramps' rendezvous They succeeded in capturing three of the gang and lodging them in jail The efforts of the officers and others were yesterday morning rewarded by the prisoners being let off scot free The last gang captured were similarly treated, though they were some of the worst of their kind and made a determined resistance to the officers and others who arrested them The railroad night watchman harbors them and the city refuses to punish them, so that between the two citizens are left without protection from them

NOTES

Begging tramps were plentiful on the streets yesterday

The annual complaints about Canada thistle are as numerous as ever

A son of W C Banks, aged 7 years slightly [illegible] yesterday

Mrs Lou Harmon, who has been visiting her mother Mrs. Riley, returned home to Lebanon yesterday

Walter Allen, aged 9 years, son of Wash Allen, fell down with a bucket of boiling water yesterday and severely scalded his right hand and wrist.

Quite a number of handsome strawberries were gathered by Mr P Flynn in his garden yesterday the second crop this season from the same vines.

Ed Forbes, while sawing a meat bone yesterday allowed the saw to slip and nearly cut through the fore and middle fingers of the left hand just above the top joints, leaving attachment simply by the cuticle Dr. Wigg attended him and will be able to save the fingers entire

BIG BEND NOTES

About thirty Celestials are gold washing on the bar near Rock island

Platt M Corbally has removed about 150 horses from the Crab creek range and placed them on the Columbia river flats between Wenatchee and Rock island

New postal route 43 318 from Ellensburg to Okanagan via Wenatchee and Badger began service July 1 Mr Brown, of Ellensburg, has the subcontract for the same, and Louis Detwiler, a river ranchman of Longview point is the carrier on this end of the route—from Wenatchee to Okanagan This will bring us in direct communication with Portland and the Sound country via rail, and the Badger mail matter already goes out and partly comes in this way in preference to the slower and longer Spokane route.

New settlers are gradually pouring in one by one to the various localities of the Big Bend The news that crops generally look fine is having its effect to dispel the mistaken notion abroad in the outside world that the Big Bend is a vast treeless and waterless desert, incapable of general agricultural productions There are some as fine-looking fields of wheat and oats in the bend this year as can be found most anywhere on the Pacific coast. Root crops promise a fine yield It is too early to speak positively of the corn crop, although the promise looks indeed fine

Okanagan's misfortune in failing to find water has had the inevitable effect of bringing a rival townsite to life, Mr Dale of the lake three miles from Okanagan on the road to Badger postoffice, has proved up his pre-emption and has had a new town site surveyed with the intention of ultimately bringing it before the county voters as a candidate for county seat honors. Mr Wallace has a new store under course of construction Mr Krouch talks some of removing his store from his ranch to the new town I have not learned the name of it yet although it is generally known as Dale s town

A well has been sunk about 217 feet at Okanagan without obtaining a supply of water and still another one has been sunk 100 feet with a like result Unfortunately Okanagan has been built upon an elevated plateau about 500 feet above the Columbia river and the strata penetrated in sinking the wells was mostly black basaltic rock of lava formation. In the canyon north of the town site water has been found in at least two places by digging only about ten feet, but Okanagan seems to be built upon the unbroken back bone of a deep [illegible] of basaltic rock The proprietor [illegible] to go their well to see if the bottom of the lava deposit can be reached.

A great need in the Big Bend is a good flouring mill There has been some talk of putting in a steam mill at the lake and another at Badger or rather, attaching one to Messrs. Nash & Stevens's own mill engine but few yet know outside of the Bend that Foster rapids furnish Orondo landing with a first-class water power The fact that there is a number of islands in the river, thereby cutting the channel in three streams gives Orondo two waterpowers, the first of which could be easily utilized by a short dam which would give power for milling, manufacturing and freight on purposes for many years to come An extensive flouring business could be transacted here to grind the wheat of Big Bend into flour for shipment down river to Portland or the ocean We have the great wheat belt here and two good wagon roads (when completed) to the prairie above. A good miller with the necessary capital would find an opening here in a year or so that would be permanent At any rate give us a flouring mill next year somewhere in the bend

Two wagon roads are being built from the great prairie above to the Columbia river. The first one, laid out through Corbally s canyon to Orondo landing, and has one mile and a half cleared of brush and poles while one mile of it is graded ready for the emigrant wagons It is not known yet positively whether it will be completed this fall or not possibly not until next season The other road enters the bluffs at Brown s canyon and is completed to the river An extension sidewise is contemplated down river to Orondo landing, to Wenatchee and thence on the wagon road already built to Ellensburg. Undoubtedly this latter road will be finished first, as there is only one serious grade thereon and it is found two miles above Orondo landing. When completed these roads will furnish open avenues from the vast prairie above to and from the Columbia river as well as make the nearest wagon routes to connect with the immediate future's nearest railroad point for the Big Bend at Ellensburg. A third route is contemplated and in fact is partly opened via the Moses Coulee to the Columbia river and the Kittitas valley

THE RECEPTION

Thomas Stewart and R C Smith two popular gentlemen well known in this community will open to-morrow evening their fine sample room, The Reception, located in the building formerly occupied by the Willamette savings bank, No 2 Washington street between First and Second Most excellent taste has been displayed in fitting up the place in every detail making it without exception the finest public resort in the city To the right of the entrance are the counters finished [illegible] the former of cherry and the latter of black walnut heavily mirrored and outfitted with an elaborate supply of the finest glassware At the end of the counter is a reading room enclosed by a cherry wood railing, the floor covered with Brussels carpet and furnished with tables chairs etc On the opposite side there is a spacious private sitting room elaborately furnished and carpeted and amply lighted and ventilated by the large plate glass windows facing the street On this side of the room are also the wash room and water closet and a store room sufficiently large for an ice box and for the storage of goods The walls and ceiling are handsomely papered and hung with costly pictures making in all a most charming and attractive place It is especially intended as a resort for business men and under the management of the gentlemen named it will certainly become a popular one The opening will take place to-morrow evening

THE STAGE

THE PRIVATE SECRETARY.—The seats for the engagement of the Madison Square Theater Company in the funny play "The Private Secretary" are now on sale at Prentice's Music store, and from the rush for them yesterday it is likely that the Madison square season will be the most successful of any that have been at the New Market theater this year The company open on Monday and play all of next week The Private Secretary with a special matinee on Thursday Out of respect to the memory of General Grant there will be no performance on Saturday, August 8 A number of the reserved seats for The Private Secretary have been placed on sale at Logus's drug store East Portland for the benefit of those people across the river who wish to attend the performance

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS IN THE STATE UNIVERSITY

PORTLAND J [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

With your permission I wish to call attention to the matter of free scholarships in the Oregon state university Each county in the state is entitled to a certain number of free scholarships in the university that is, each has the privilege of sending [illegible] to the school where [illegible] [illegible] There are now ten vacancies in the [illegible] of Multnomah [illegible] These vacancies I [illegible] to fill

[illegible] the holders to attend the [illegible] free of tuition. It costs nothing to [illegible] and they afford an opportunity for any boy or girl to obtain an excellent education free of cost The university is located at Eugene City Lane county a pleasant and healthful town on the line of the Oregon and California railroad and easy of access

Of the high rank and excellence of the school I need say nothing for they are everywhere recognized and well-known.

The qualifications necessary to obtain a county scholarship are good moral character and one year's residence in the county, and ability to pass such examinations as the faculty of the school prescribes. Applications must be made in writing to the county superintendents of schools at least one month before the commencement of the school year at which the applicant seeks to enter The next school year at the university begins September 14, 1885

I am informed that students can find board and lodging with private families in Eugene for $4 00 per week and that some live in clubs at a less expense

I shall be glad to receive applications for these vacant scholarships

A catalogue of the university for the coming year, containing full information concerning the school, the different departments, courses of study, length of terms qualifications for entering etc can be seen at my office No 34 First street

GENERAL GRANT.

New Orleans States Grant was a great soldier but erring unscrupulous arbitrary and tyrannical as a statesman

Des Moines Register —His death is crowned not alone with the honor which the world always pays to true greatness, but with the appreciative affection which it reserves for true nobility

New York Commercial Advertiser His few faults will be softened to posterity by the memory of his noble virtues exalted fidelity to country, and magnanimity in the hour of victory

New York Herald Sincere patriot, brave soldier, pure-mannered and pure-minded citizen—these are General Grant's titles to the respect and love of his countrymen now and forever

New York Tribune The foremost man of the nation has closed a career second to no other in the history of the republic. The faults of others, which he shouldered through life, fall from him at the grave

New York Times The name of General Grant will be remembered by Americans as that of the savior of their country in a crisis more appalling than any it has passed through since the United States became a nation.

New Orleans Picayune Brethren of the north and south let us join mournful hands together around that newly opened grave, remembering that while all earthly goods are evanescent, honor, truth and love are eternally secure

Brooklyn Eagle Like gold from the furnace of the refiner the character of our greatest soldier emerges from the crucible of disease cleansed from every infirmity and fitted to circulate as sterling coin in the moral exchanges of the world.

New York Sun What an instructive story is presented in the chronicle of the life which is now ended! What lessons and what warnings What encouragement for patriotism for fidelity for weariless defense of the great interests of mankind

Boston Journal: He lived long enough to witness the waning of old animosities, and to find himself the center of a regard which knew no sectional or party limitations His fame is secure, and his monument is the Union which he helped to preserve

Milwaukee Wisconsin His was a finished life The work for his fellow men to which he gave himself had been fulfilled As soldier and civilian he accomplished results more magnificent than those achieved by any other man who has lived in any age

Buffalo Commercial Advertiser In Grant's life there was everything to appeal to the ambition and emulation of the living In Grant's way of meeting death there was everything to stimulate the fortitude, the admiration of his fellow men, who like him wait for the summons that humanity must obey.

Minneapolis Tribune The death of General Grant has come in the course of nature and the fullness of time. His work as a public man was accomplished. The stately epic of his life was rounded out and finished His life was spared until his career had worked itself out as a historical whole with an artistic unity.

Cincinnati Times-Star History with its thousand tongues, will proclaim U S Grant the greatest general of modern times In the days of the rebellion he represented the spirit and the power of the north more truly than any other man of the period His endurance heroism and indefatigable energy united with consummate capacity for leadership fitted him to conquer

Boston Herald The character of General Grant was the most transparent of any of our eminent Americans No man since Washington has been less moved than he by personal ambition. No citizen has been more thoroughly and unselfishly a patriot, Like Washington, he did his duty because it was his nature, almost his religion, to do so General Grant was incapable of deceit, or envy or malice or uncharitableness

Indianapolis News Grant was not for an age but for all time—a sturdy character peerless in its strength a simple character modest in every station pure in every personal expression the incarnation of bravery in every attribute, "with firmness in the right as God gave him to see the right," America's greatest soldier one of the three of her greatest men to whom it was given to play leading parts in her life—Washington Lincoln Grant.

Topeka Commonwealth Called by the breaking out of the civil war from comparative obscurity, the life of General Grant thereafter reads as a romance more eventful and wonderful than was ever evolved from the brain of a Sue or a Dumas, while his fame and conspicuous services are imperishably stamped on the history of his country for all coming time and will be spoken by a grateful posterity as long as the English language shall endure

St. Paul Pioneer Press In the fierce trials of life and death in the stern battle with foes [illegible] [illegible] by which his life was rounded the people of America learned to pass a just verdict upon one whom they had chosen for their hero and posterity will not learn to set it aside It is as the savior of his country that he will be known to the unborn generations who will study dispassionately the history of the great civil strife

Charleston News and Courier There is peace throughout the land—peace in the north and peace in the south The country is one again in heart and thought, and hope The great soldier who laid in blood the foundation of this second and more enduring Union is now at his rest Let us have peace he said years ago and peace his people have in their hearts and minds In this time of peace there is naught but regard and regret for him for whom strife and disquiet are no more

Louisville Times He was a faithful untiring and pitiless soldier while an armed enemy remained to menace the perpetuity of the government When that enemy laid down his arms the warm heart beneath the soldier's exterior beat responsive to the touch of nature that makes the world akin and when in the name of the great government which he represented he said "Go in peace" to the soldier of the south he built in their hearts a monument which death alone can destroy

Baltimore Herald Well as the people knew him they failed to measure him fully till misfortune threw him upon himself and made him exhibit Grant—the man in the strength of his manhood Then it was that they saw that it was not destiny nor favor nor fortuitous conditions that raised the obscure militarian to the head of the greatest army that has taken the field in modern times and made him veritably the first citizen of the republic but innate genius courage and strength of purpose—the elements of true manliness

Our store is not the largest store in the world, therefore, in order to make room for the immense stocks of goods about to arrive (autumn and fall goods), and for which we need lots of room we will sell AT ANY PRICE the balance of our Spring and Summer stock We MUST close out this stock we do not care at what price so long as we turn it into money and room

This fall we shall add to our already large assortments of goods—a few new [illegible] such as—

House Furnishing Goods
Gents' Furnishing Goods

And in fact any line of goods that we can offer to our patrons and the generous public,

At Great Bargain Prices.

Know what do we care for a loss of present stock Don't think we are jesting Call on us and see if we do not offer you the nicest lot of Fancy Goods at prices that will surprise you. If they are not dirt cheap don't buy We will show you anything in the house, buy or no buy

NOW FOR A POINTER:

We are going to slaughter this month an immense stock of unsold Wools Yarns Saxony Shetland Fairy Chenille and Arrasene—and in fact all our Embroidery Materials.

Why we are going to do this we are not at liberty to state at present, but we have got to do it. We simply say we need the room

LADIES

Will of course need lots of these goods a little later on To all we give this advice Come now and buy your goods, you will not be sorry for it We guarantee a Reduction of 35 per cent. on former prices.

THURSDAY July 30

Cloudy weather in the forenoon is followed by clearing as the day passes Wind fresh northerly

Overland receipts include 5 sks nuts 5 bbls baking powder 45 ctes hams 5 bxs soap 10 cs canned fish 1 cs cigars 5 cs cigarettes 1[illegible] pkgs tobacco 48 bbls linseed oil 7 bxs tin 120 bxs nails 10 bbls cylinder oil

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours 1890 ctls wheat 306 bbls flour 1 24 ctls oats 220 ctls bran 900 ctls millstuff 108 sks potatoes 33 205 lbs wool, 5210 lbs hides 138 cs eggs 4 bxs fruit 5 pkgs butter Also 9514 ctls wheat 322 bbls flour 725 ctls oats, 281 ctls barley 5590 lbs wool 2055 lbs hides from the eastern section

FREIGHTS—The Elma sailed Sunday with a wheat cargo loaded early in the month The Kitty has filled up with wheat Other vessels in berth are getting along very well and will soon be away The Birmah came in to load salmon The river has been clear of disengaged tonnage hence there was no opportunity for business In futures some three or four closings are reported generally at 45s and 46s 3d as to size To arrive tonnage continues to be freely offered but there is no marked disposition to take it up Of the latest additions to our visible supply one only is early loading and the prospect for August—September business does not materially improve From San Francisco a very light business is reported and a part of that is believed to be old. The California export trade is very dull and is largely due to the difference between spot and future wheat price Spot wheat at $1 45 per cental costs 5c per cental to carry for the balance of the year and 8c for the season Buyer year and buyer season contracts sold at $1 51 and $1 65, a profit of 7 to 12c on the options or $1 40 @ 2 40 per ton At the same spot price for wheat and 35s for freights the cost delivered in England, not including incidental expenses, is 38s 6d per quarter, while the sale value of cargoes there is 36s 6d per quarter, a loss of $2 per short ton It has lately paid better to buy and sell contracts than to ship and until futures fall back or spot advances the shipping outlook must remain poor

WHEAT—Receipts liberal and include some new valley as well as considerable new Walla Walla. The local market has ruled quiet with a tendency toward weakness shippers showing indifference late in the week No sales of new valley have been reported but $1 25 is nominally quoted. Old would probably command $1 27½ for milling Walla Walla is quoted weak at $1 15 last sales being at this in the interior The course of the foreign market has been one of decided weakness although cargo quotations have not been changed Liverpool spot declined slightly New York and Chicago have fluctuated within 1¾@1¼c for August 1¾@1½c September and 1⅜@1¾c for October, highest prices being reached on the 24th at New York and 25th at Chicago Late options have held up better than the earlier ones San Francisco continued inactive operators finding more margin in future than in spot trading The Oregon and Washington harvest is now well along and bids fair to be finished before rain falls. The weight of Walla Walla grain is somewhat heavier than last year The valley crop promises to be about what it was last year while the eastern section will have an increase How much of an increase it will be is in dispute. It current statements are to be believed it will be something prodigious. The price outlook does not improve and most operators now look for a lower range before October Everything points to better values late in the year, but there is no great amount of speculation on the strength of this outlook.

FLOUR—A very quiet market has ruled the demand being slack and mills grinding no new stock. Values have ruled steady with no early prospect of change Standards quoted $4 25 less usual trade discount others $3 50@3 75

MILLSTUFF—Large quantities of bran going forward Local trade light and easily supplied. Quote jobbing prices Bran $12@13 chop, $16 50 @18 shorts $14@17 middlings, $18@20

BARLEY—Little doing the shipping movement being light No local demand Nominally quoted $16@$18 for feed and $20 for brewing.

OATS—Receipts for the week 7361 ctls and export 9728 ctls by two steamers Stocks here are light but jobbers are fairly supplied The demand has ruled quiet and holders who early advanced their pretensions met with no encouragement. buyers steadily refusing to go above 33c Just now a very large portion of the export is on consignment The San Francisco market does not improve heavy stocks there weighing it down. Quote good to choice feed 30@33c stained 22@25c

TROPICAL FRUITS—Fair request No oranges being received Lemons have gone up with a bound now quoted $10 and this is also San Francisco price to-day Limes steady at $1 75 cocoa nuts 7c bananas $3 75

FRUITS ETC—Apples and pears offering freely dealers paying 50c for best and selling at 60@60c Gravensteins of good quality in Plums in slow request at 1@1 c Other sorts selling at Grapes $1@1 10 tomatoes 50@$1 50 peaches 75c apricots $1 melons $3 50 per dozen cantaloupes $1 50 per crate Oregon melons in slow movement as yet.

POTATOES—Dealers paying 40c per sack for best Deliveries by wagons free Sweets selling at 4c.

ONIONS—Light trade Selling at 2c.

BUTTER—Demand wholly met by local make Best quoted 20@25c poorer grades 8@18c Common continues in full stock and is weak

POULTRY—Somewhat increased receipt of chickens weakened values and extremes gave way The request rules fair Quoted old $3@4 young $ @ Ducks geese and turkey in no business

EGGS—Receipts liberal demand slow and market weak The has been quoted all week stocks being kept down more by throwing away a considerable portion than by actual consumption

THE O. R. & N LEASE

Elijah Smith Tells what He Doesn't Know About it—His Opinion as to the Effect of the Lease.

On his return east from Portland last week President Elijah Smith of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company stopped over a day at St Paul Being interviewed by a reporter of the Pioneer-Press he said that he was not in a position to speak knowingly as he had no official advices regarding the lease since he left home nearly a month ago The lease was then in as crude a shape as it was a year ago and he did not know that any further advancement had been made with it He saw by the papers that the Northern Pacific directors approved the lease but even of that fact he had not been officially informed Neither the Union Pacific nor Oregon Navigation have as yet taken action on the lease and until they do, it cannot be put into effect Mr Smith was not sufficiently familiar with the details of the proposed lease to state its exact terms. He did not know in whose hands the operation of the road would be placed nor whether the Oregon people would have any voice in the management Neither could he tell whether or not the lessees would retain any portion of the rental to defray the expenses of maintaining the track, nor whether all repairs would be made by the Oregon company or by the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific jointly Mr Smith did not think the Oregon Railway & Navigation would gain so very much by the lease as its earnings have been steadily increasing for some time past The increase for July he said would be about $100 000 in round numbers

Though he could not see any immediate advantages to accrue from the lease he thought it would be a good thing in the end as it would serve to stop railroad building on the Northern Pacific slope The paralleling of roads in the East and West and in fact every other portion of the country excepting Oregon and Washington he characterized as a cut throat policy. This he said is why so many different roads have gone into the hands of the receiver Both the Northern Pacific and the Union Pacific are determined to reach the coast Should the Northern Pacific get exclusive control of the Oregon Navigation the Union Pacific would build to the south of the line while the Northern Pacific would build to the north should the Union Pacific secure the sole privilege to operate over the tracks of the Oregon company The country out there is not just at present sufficiently well peopled to support any more roads and for this reason it is probably better that the proposed lease should go through The earnings then will be equitably distributed and all three companies will receive a fair percentage upon their investment in that country The Oregon Navigation has but two projects under consideration One is the extension of the Palouse branch from Colfax to Moscow and the other the construction of the Pataha line from Riparia to Pataha City The former is now under construction but work upon the latter has not as yet been commenced It will however probably be built at an early day as the country through which the line is to be built is very fertile and gives promise of a very large crop The wheat crop of Oregon and Washington, Mr Smith said would be much larger this season than was ever known There will be a large acreage and much more to the acre than last year In some portions of Oregon and Washington the yield will run as high as forty bushels to the acre In southern Oregon the yield will not be so large and in some part will probably run below thirty bushels to the acre The largest and best crops will be in the Willamette valley and Walla Walla country Arrangements for moving their crops are all made All of it will go over the Oregon Railway and Navigation

A CURE OF PNEUMONIA.

Dr H T Barnaby of Oswego N Y says that his daughter was taken with a violent cold which terminated with Pneumonia, and all the best physicians gave the case up and said she could live but a few hours at most She was in this condition when a friend recommended DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS and advised her to try it. She accepted it as a last resort, and was surprised to find that it produced a marked change for the better and by persevering a permanent cure was effected.
